On October 21, 1970 [redacted]

[redacted] New Jersey, was interviewed at his request at his residence. He stated on Saturday night, October 17, 1970, he was in the County Roost Tavern, 310 West Hildreth Avenue, Wildwood, N. J., when a white male and female came into the tavern and had a drink and then ordered several bottles of "Jack Daniels" whiskey to go and then departed the business. He stated he thought nothing of the couple until Sunday morning when he saw pictures of the suspect, Paul Rose, who is wanted in the Pierre Laporte kidnapping and murder in Montreal, Canada, in the "Philadelphia Bulletin," newspaper. He stated he noted at that time the resemblance between Rose and the individual who had been in the County Roost Tavern the night before. He stated he thought nothing more about the matter until this date when another photograph of Paul Rose was in the "Atlantic City Press," Atlantic City, N. J. He stated he cannot be sure but the man who was in the bar on October 17, 1970, had a striking resemblance to the photograph of Rose. [redacted] when the individual came into the tavern around 8:00 p.m. and thus was in control of his senses. He stated the individual was of medium height and weight and had dark hair with long sideburns, mustache and chin whiskers. He said they were dressed neatly and talked with an accent. He stated the Wildwood, N. J., resort area has many Canadians during the summer months and this couple gave him the general appearance of being Canadians. He stated he could not describe the woman since he could only vaguely recall her appearance. He stated the couple stayed in the tavern for about fifteen minutes and during this time the only other person in the bar was the bartender. He stated he did not see their mode of transportation and did not remember having seen them in the past, and has not seen them since that time.

Three Men Added To Wanted List In Laporte Case ^{A3}

MONTREAL (AP) —Three more men were being sought today in the kidnaping of Pierre Laporte, the Quebec labor minister found strangled last Saturday in the trunk of a car.

The fate of a second kidnap victim, British Trade Commissioner James Richard Cross, remained unknown.

Cross was kidnaped Oct. 5, and Laporte five days later by separate cells of the Quebec Liberation Front, which said it would free the two unharmed in exchange for 23 terrorists in jail or awaiting trial.

The front seeks independence for French-speaking Quebec from English-speaking Canada.

Warrants Issued

Quebec police issued warrants yesterday charging conspiracy in the Laporte kidnaping for Francis Simard, 28, a laborer; Bernard Fortin, 19, a student; and Jacques Rose, 23, a laborer and younger brother of Paul Rose, 27, who, along with Marc Carboneau, 37, is sought in connection with both kidnapings.

Quebec police, apparently by coincidence, also seized American lawyer Arthur Frank Turco, 29, wanted in Baltimore, Md., on a charge of attempted murder. Turco, a member of the left-leaning Patriot party, was picked up in a raid on a Montreal rooming house. Plans are underway to extradite him, authorities said.

Earlier in the day, the Front d'Action Politique, a party backing 31 candidates in the Montreal municipal election tomorrow, initiated a $3.6 million damage suit against Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau for statements he allegedly made in a radio interview.

Terrorist Ties Denied

On Thursday, Drapeau linked the party to the Quebec Liberation Front and indicated that if it were to gain power violence might ensue. Party officials have denied any connection with the terrorist group.

A Montreal government spokesman said the election will take place as scheduled, despite pleas by the separatist Parti Québécois and the 225,000-member Confederation of National Trade Unions that it be delayed until the War Measures Act, invoked Oct. 16, is repealed.

Under the act, persons may be arrested and held up to 21 days without being formally charged. The measure, introduced by the Canadian government to aid in the search for the kidnapers, has been criticized in some quarters as contributing to a "climate of panic."

Meanwhile, Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa said in an interview that he hopes the worst is over in the province and that the majority of its six million residents will realize the extent of the crisis and rally "behind the cause of reason."

Investigation at Riggs National Bank, WDC, conducted on 10/22/70 revealed that the Foreign Exchange Teller who sold the Amexco Travelers Checks could not recall purchaser and required no identification because the transaction was for cash.

It should be noted that this branch of Riggs is located in a neighborhood of government buildings including the White House and the U.S. Treasury. The only hotel or transient residence building within several miles is the Washington Hotel, 15th. and Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W. On 10/23/70, photos of subjects were displayed to hotel employees without revealing nature of inquiry. Registration cards were examined for September 24 to September 29 inclusive. Inquiry was made at hotel garage concerning vehicles with Canadian license plates. All investigation negative.

CANADA 10-27 NX

MONTREAL (UPI)--QUEBEC PROVINCIAL POLICE REPORTED TUESDAY THEY HAD INTERCEPTED TWO COMMUNIQUEES, PURPORTEDLY FROM THE FRONT DE LIBERATION DU QUEBEC (FLQ), ABOUT THE KIDNAPING OF BRITISH DIPLOMAT JAMES R. CROSS.

POLICE SAID AT LEAST ONE OF THE COMMUNIQUEES "LOOKED LEGITIMATE" AS THE WORK OF THE FLQ CELLS WHICH HAVE CLAIMED RESPONSIBILITY FOR KIDNAPING TWO OFFICIALS, AND KILLING ONE.

A SPOKESMAN FOR THE QPP SPECIAL SECURITY SQUAD SAID, "WE ARE NOT TAKING SERIOUSLY ONE COMMUNIQUE, BUT WE ARE CONSIDERING THE OTHER ONE AS LEGITIMATE."

HE SAID THE ONE POLICE WERE DISCOUNTING FOR THE TIME BEING WAS ONE WHICH SAID THE BODY OF CROSS HAD BEEN LEFT ON ONE OF THE BRIDGES LEADING TO THE ISLAND CITY OF MONTREAL.

"WE HAVE BEEN SEARCHING ALL THE BRIDGES, AND SOME OF OUR MEN STILL ARE, BUT THERE IS NO SIGN OF MR. CROSS," A QPP OFFICIAL SAID. "THE PAPER ON WHICH THAT COMMUNIQUE IS WRITTEN IS NOT THE SAME AS HAS BEEN USED IN OTHER COMMUNIQUEES FROM THE FLQ."

HE SAID, HOWEVER, "THE SECOND ONE (COMMUNIQUE) LOOKS LEGITIMATE," AND WAS WRITTEN ON PAPER BEARING THE RED-WHITE-GREEN STRIPES USED BY THE CHENIER CELL, WHICH REPORTED THE SLAYING OCT. 17 OF QUEBEC CABINET MINISTER PIERRE LAPORTE.

POLICE SAID THE SECOND COMMUNIQUE ALSO ENCLOSED A FINGERPRINT AND A PASSPORT OSTENSIBLY BELONGING TO PAUL ROSE, A PART TIME SCHOOL TEACHER WHO HAS BEEN SOUGHT FOR QUESTIONING SINCE OCT. 18 IN THE CROSS-LAPORTE ABDUCTIONS.

THE SECOND COMMUNIQUE WAS SIGNED, "CHENIER-LIBERATION-DIEPPE CELL." THE CHENIER CELL HAS CLAIMED IT KIDNAPED LAPORTE OCT. 10. THE LIBERATION CELL SAID IT TOOK CROSS CAPTIVE OCT. 5 AT GUNPOINT, AND THE "DIEPPE" CELL WAS THE SIGNATURE USED IN AN FLQ COMMUNIQUE ANNOUNCING LAPORTE'S MURDER OCT. 17.

THE TWO COMMUNIQUEES WERE PICKED UP BY POLICE BEFORE NEWSMEN FROM THE TWO RADIO STATIONS USED PREVIOUSLY AS RELAY MEDIA FOR THE FLQ, WERE ABLE TO PICK THEM UP THEMSELVES.

NOT RECORDED

184 NOV 2 1970

"THE COMMUNIQUE WE ARE TAKING SERIOUSLY MAKES NO REFERENCE TO MR. CROSS," A HIGH-RANKING QPP OFFICER SAID.

HE SAID THE ONE WHICH POLICE WERE REGARDING AS A HOAX AT THE MOMENT--AND WHICH REFERRED TO CROSS, WHO HAS NOT BEEN HEARD FROM SINCE OCT. 18--WAS SIGNED "THE ROYAL 22ND" CELL.

THE ROYAL 22ND IS THE NAME OF THE FRENCH-CANADIAN REGIMENT SENT INTO MONTREAL AND QUEBEC AS PART OF EMERGENCY FEDERAL-PROVINCIAL MEASURES AIMED AT WIPING OUT THE FLQ.

BOTH COMMUNIQUEES FOLLOWED BY 24 HOURS AN APPEAL BY MRS. BARBARA CROSS MONDAY PLEADING THAT THE LIFE OF HER 49-YEAR OLD HUSBAND BE SPARED.

Laporte Strangled, Stabbed in Heart, Report Indicates

By JEREMIAH O'LEARY
Star Staff Writer

MONTREAL—The Canadian government today pressed a relentless search for the separatist extremists who murdered a Quebec cabinet minister and apparently are still holding a kidnapped British diplomat.

Labor Minister Pierre Laporte was strangled with the chain of his own religious medal and stabbed to death with an icepick in his heart, an autopsy disclosed.

Sgt. Albert Lisaceq, a Quebec police detective, revealed this today as reporters gathered at a bungalow in St. Hubert, near Montreal, where Laporte evidently had been held prisoner for a week before he was killed Saturday by terrorists of the Front for the Liberation of Quebec (FLQ). Earlier reports hinted that the 49-year-old labor minister had been shot, but police never confirmed this.

Meanwhile, British diplomat James Cross is believed to be still alive, on the basis of notes in his handwriting that were left for Montreal police to find yesterday. (The Star, in some editions yesterday, erroneously reported his body was found.)

Laporte's body lies in state in the Montreal Courthouse today and he will be buried tomorrow.

House Searched

The manner in which Laporte was put to death by his separatist captors came to light today as provincial police were searching the house in St. Hubert, on the basis of an FLQ tip to a local French-language radio station.

Sgt. Lisaceq said the call came at 1 a.m. today and police reached the house soon after. It is less than a mile from the St. Hubert air base where Laporte's body was found in the trunk of a car early yesterday.

Lisaceq said he kicked in the front door, then decided to call in bomb experts for fear the house had been booby-trapped. Police evacuated neighbors for a block around, and then set off small explosive charges on doors and a suitcase before continuing the search.

Lisaceq said they found ample evidence that Laporte had been there, but refused to say what it was. He did say there were signs the Quebec official had been beaten.

Autopsy Results

"Is that where he was shot?" a reporter asked the detective. "Who told you he was shot?" the burly detective retorted. He then disclosed that the autopsy showed Laporte had been garrotted with the chain of the religious medal he wore and that an icepick had been thrust into his heart.

Capt. Raymond Belmare said the house had been rented since April by a group of about four men and one woman who are being sought. Neighbors said the group had been of the "hippie" type, who frequently changed cars and who came and went at odd hours carrying knapsacks, but none of the neighbors had reported suspicions to police.

A young woman who lives across the street and who refused to identify herself said she recognized one of the residents of the house as Paul Rose, one of two FLQ members for whom warrants have been issued in the kidnappings.

The woman said she now knew that Rose had lived there from seeing his picture in the newspapers and on television today. She said Rose used to wink at her on the few occasions when they passed on the suburban street.

The house looked today as if it had been struck by a cyclone. Windows were shattered, and articles, such as canoe paddles, sleeping bags, knapsacks and bed clothing were lying in the yard. One policeman said pillows found in the house were similar to a pillow on which Laporte's head was resting when his body was found in the car less than a mile away.

Notes Held Code

Detectives said Laporte had attempted in his several notes to tell police where he was held by using a sort of code.

They said he made references in a studied way to the 12 members of his family, and gave other clues that were attempts to indicate the hiding place. The detectives said they recognized what Laporte was trying to do, but were unable to solve his cryptic references in time to save him.

The government today pressed a relentless search for the separatist extremists who murdered Laporte and who are still holding Cross for ransom.

Cross had been reported dead early yesterday morning after Laporte's body had been discovered, but a note in Cross' handwriting was found a few hours later which said he was alive.

Using the War Powers Act, which suspends constitutional guarantees for all Canadians during the crisis, police continued their raids against members of the FLQ and its sympathizers.

By this morning, the number taken into custody without warrant or court process had risen to 319.

183 Seized in Montreal

Quebec police said a total of 626 raids had been carried out, most of them in Montreal. They said 183 of the detained persons had been arrested in Montreal.

Canada's largest city and center of the French-speaking region. Warrants were issued last night for two men sought in the kidnapping of Laporte and Cross—Marc Carboneau, 37, a 5-foot, 5-inch, 145-pound taxi driver, and Paul Rose, 27, a 210-pound 6-footer who has a cataract in his left eye.

Carboneau and Rose are both Montrealers. Carboneau is known to police as a member of the radical Taxi Liberation Movement and may be the "scar-faced" cab driver mentioned by one of the witnesses in the kidnap case. Rose is a high school lecturer who once operated a leftist discussion center in the Gaspé region.

Found in Booth

Speculation is that the men may have been identified as suspects from police photo files by witnesses in the abductions. The Portuguese maid in the Cross residence on Mount Royal and Mrs. Barbara Cross both got a good look at the men with machine-guns who seized the British diplomat Oct. 5.

Laporte was playing football in front of his home with his son when he was seized by armed and masked men Oct. 10.

The note from Cross was found in a phone booth early yesterday. Verified to be in his handwriting, the note said the diplomat was being well treated but warned that the place in which he is confined was so well hidden the police could never find it.

Cross' note did not plead for his life but said his life was in danger if police continued to search for him and his captors.

The Cross note was found after an anonymous caller phoned French-language radio station CKLM and told where it had been left. The terrorists used the same procedure Saturday night with another French language station, CKAC, to tell news editor Norman Maltais that Laporte had been put to death.

Guided by written instructions and a map, a CKAC reporter found a car at the nearby St. Hubert airfield. Laporte's body was locked in the trunk.

As soon as the body of Laporte was found by police, other calls said the body of Cross would be found in a taxi at Rawdon, 40 miles north of Montreal. These phone calls were accepted as true, because Laporte's bloody and bound body had been discovered just where the FLQ had said it was.

Third Call Heeded

Maltais said he received three separate calls Saturday night from the FLQ but did nothing about the first two calls, at 7 p.m. and 8:30 p.m., because he receives so many calls it is difficult to tell the authentic messages from the crank calls.

When a third call came to Maltais at 9:30 p.m. Saturday from a man identifying himself as being with the Chenier cell of the FLQ, he said he finally sent a reporter to the Place des Arts in Montreal to look for the message he was told would be there.

The reporter found a note which said Laporte had been assassinated at 6:18 p.m. and that his body was in a green Chevrolet parked at St. Hubert.

Maltais said he recognized the handwriting as the same as that on an earlier message from the FLQ last month. He therefore

FLQ hideout looked like a bordello

MONTREAL (UPI) — A steel-framed house set in a jungle-like garden was the hide out where the FLQ kept Canada's kidnaped Labour Minister Pierre LaPorte for a week before murdering him.

Neighbors in the quiet suburb of St. Hubert thought the house was a bordello and did their best to try and ignore it. But finally, a local resident tipped off police that "hippie-types" had been living in the house for seven months.

Yesterday anti-terrorist squads broke into the bungalow which is seven miles from the LaPortes' home and only half a mile from the spot where the green Chevrolet with his body in the trunk was dumped.

The house was "in a mess" and contained several beds and just a few sticks of furniture, according to police. But they found many important clues, including FLQ documents, blood stains, probably from the dead man, and five sets of fingerprints.

Neighbors identified one of the men who had been living in the house as the 27-year-old teacher, Paul Rose, wanted in connection with the kidnap murder.

A large hole had been cut from the living room wall to the adjoining garage. It was probably used to carry Mr. LaPorte's body into the garage.

Meanwhile, police established that several men and two women had been living in the house. One had black hair and the other was auburn haired. They had bungalow, neighbors reported.

Quebec Police Find House Where Laporte Was Held

By EDWARD COWAN
Special to The New York Times

ST. HUBERT, Quebec, Oct. 19—The house in which Pierre Laporte was held hostage for a week before he was slain last Saturday was discovered today on an unpaved street in this quiet suburb of Montreal.

Neighbors reported that the occupants of the white frame bungalow at 5630 Armstrong Street had not been friendly and an unusual number of people had entered and left the house during that week.

The four-room house is a half-mile from the civilian side of St. Hubert Airport. Mr. Laporte's body was found in the trunk of a car abandoned at the airport, where soldiers who are helping the Montreal police with security duties landed while Mr. Laporte was still a prisoner.

Empty fields roll into the distance on either side of Armstrong Street and cows graze a quarter-mile away.

Mr. Laporte, Quebec's 49-year-old Minister of Labor and Immigration, was kidnapped on Oct. 10 by the Front for the Liberation of Quebec, a terrorist organization of young French Canadian dedicated to the political independence of Quebec and the overthrow of capitalism in the province.

Funeral to Be Private

The funeral for Mr. Laporte will be held tomorrow in Notre Dame Church in Montreal. The provincial government announced that at the request of the minister's widow it would be simple and private, with the public and newsmen excluded.

There was no news today of the front's other kidnapping victim, James R. Cross, the Senior British Trade Commissioner in Quebec. He was kidnapped on Oct. 5. A note in his handwriting saying that he was well was received yesterday.

The police were led to the bungalow here by a neighbor who recognized a televised picture of a suspect as one of the house's occupants. Later, several neighbors said that the two men who had lived in the bungalow since May looked like Paul Rose and Marc Charbonneau, for whom arrest warrants were issued yesterday.

Suspects Reported Seen

The police said they had received several reports of sightings of Mr. Rose and Mr. Charbonneau, whose pictures were shown on television several times last night. For a while this morning every car leaving Montreal Island was being slowed and its occupants scrutinized.

Last night and today policemen, without warrants, made more than 1,000 raids on homes, apartments and buildings, but failed to find two men suspected of having kidnapped Mr. Laporte. The raids led to 10 arrests, bringing to 536 the number of suspected front members or sympathizers detained without warrants since Friday, when the Government invoked wartime emergency powers.

Two typewriters, front documents and other items that the police regard as clues were found in the house. The police refused to say this evening whether they had verified that either of the two typewriters had been used to write the messages issued in the name of the front's Chenier cell, which kidnapped Mr. Laporte.

The police said that no firearms or dynamite had been found in the house. The police refused to speculate whether Mr. Laporte had been killed in the house, although that seemed probable in light of its proximity to the airport. Mr. Laporte probably spent his seven nights as a prisoner on a dirty, ragged mattress in a small rear room, the police said.

Occupant Identified

The house had been rented to a Paul Blais, the name the occupant also gave when the local list of voters was being compiled.

An employee of the landlord, a Montreal accountant, said that Mr. Blais came to his office last Tuesday, two days after Mr. Laporte was kidnapped, to pay two month's back rent, $189.50.

Mr. Blais resembled the pictures of Paul Rose, the employee said.

A woman about 20 or 25 years old who played the guitar also lived in the bungalow, the neighbors said. The landlord's office understood her to be Mrs. Blais, the police said that Mr. Rose was not married.

Mr. Rose, who is 27 years old, is a teacher. Mr. Charbonneau, 37, is a taxi driver. Taxis figured in the abductions of both Mr. Cross and Mr. Laporte. Neighbors said that many cars, including taxis without dome lights, arrived at the house here at various hours of the day and night. One neighbor said that he often saw cars being put into the garage attached to the house even if another car had to be removed first.

A second taxi driver, Jacques Lanctot, 25, has been sought by the police since shortly after Mr. Cross was kidnapped. It is believed that Mrs. Cross, who was home when gunmen forced their way into the house, identified Mr. Lanctot from police pictures.

Neighbors watched today as policemen cordoned off the bungalow and technical experts went to work inside and outside in chin-high weeds and grass.

Fingerprints, bloodstains, dust samples and clothing fibers were found.

No neighbor recalled seeing the green 1968 Chevrolet in which Mr. Laporte was abducted. It is believed that he was transferred to a taxi soon after the abduction.

St. Hubert, a community of 23,000, is about seven miles from the Laporte home in St. Lambert. Both communities are on the south bank of the St. Lawrence River. Except during rush hours, the drive from the bungalow to downtown Montreal would take about 15 or 20 minutes.

Manhunt for FLQ killers

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Canadian government mounted a massive manhunt today for two FLQ kidnap suspects despite a pathetic plea from British diplomat James R. Cross that such a search "would be my death warrant."

The suspects are cab driver Marc Carbonneau, 37, and teacher Paul Rose, 27, who wears a Castro-style beard and is known to have twice visited Cuba.

A third suspect, taxi driver Jacques Lanctot, 25, has been sought since Oct. 8 in connection with the kidnapping of Mr. Cross, a 49-year-old trade official.

Early today, Quebec provincial police and special army explosive experts went to a house in suburban St. Hubert in which they believe Labor Minister Pierre LaPorte was kept hostage for a week before he was shot to death.

The house is only a short distance from St. Hubert military airport where the car containing Mr. LaPorte's body was found.

Police spokesman said there were 'big boxes' in the house which may be booby-trapped with dynamite bombs. He added the police had been directed to the house by an anonymous phone tip.

Police are also trying to trace three cars wanted in connection with the murder and kidnapping. The cars were reported traveling thru New York State yesterday.

Meanwhile, Canada's House of Commons, in an overwhelming show of support for the crackdown on Quebec terrorism, voted 190 to 1 today to support the government's use of emergency powers under the war measures act.

Only 16 members of the New Democratic Party voted against a motion declaring support for the government's move last Friday. Support came from the Liberal, Conservative and Creditiste parties and four New Democrats.

Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, who observed his 51st birthday yesterday in a day of national mourning and crisis, has indicated no willingness to bargain with the terrorists.

He said in a television report to the nation: "We must expect that these vicious men may attempt again to shake our will." But he predicted they would fail. "The FLQ has sown the seeds of its own destruction."

The government would say nothing about whether Rose and Carbonneau were the ring leaders of the FLQ cells which seized the two men.

Police refused to disclose what information led them to issue the Canada-wide warrants.

Woman claims FLQ torture

HULL, Quebec (UPI) — Police do not believe the FLQ was involved in the alleged kidnapping of a woman who says those letters were scratched on her stomach.

Hull deputy police chief Roland Morin said police did not think the wounds on the woman, who says she was abducted and tortured Friday night, were self-inflicted, either.

Chief Morin said: "We now have to protect the girl, as well as the population. We are investigating the reliability of her report, and we have her under close watch."

The 27-year-old woman, whose name was withheld, told police she was seized near her home and taken blindfolded to a basement apartment, where she was tortured with what she believed was a large needle. She said she was released eight hours later.

Rose was described as a bearded, 210-pounder with black hair, brown eyes and a cataract on his left eye. Carbonneau is a 5-foot-five, weighs 145 pounds; has brown hair and brown eyes.

Mr. Cross' plea, in two handwritten notes left in a telephone booth yesterday, said it would be very dangerous for the police to track down his captors. He said he would never be found and that his freedom hinged entirely on the government's willingness to release 23 political prisoners.

A warning to look out for three cars was given by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. They identified the cars as a 1964 Volkswagen bearing the green and white Quebec license number 4L-4815; a 1966 Meteor with the plate 3S-0780, and a 1968 Volvo with the plate 1M-1033.

Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa said in a radio and television broadcast yesterday: "Pierre LaPorte is a victim of hate, a criminal hate not known before in Canada or Quebec."

Mr. Bourassa offered a ride on a government plane to Havana for Mr. Cross' abductors if they would turn him over to the Cuban consul on a bridge over the St. Lawrence River.

But there was no reply from the FLQ.

Hood Prof. Apologizes To FBI Director Hoover

The American University in Washington has formally apologized to FBI director J. Edgar Hoover for alleged derogatory comments made about him by a visiting instructor from Hood College.

During an informal discussion on Oct. 6, Thomas Rose, a Hood professor who teaches a course entitled "Violence in America" part-time at AU, reportedly joked about inviting Hoover to be a guest speaker. Following the incident, 11 FBI clerks in the class were apparently ordered by the FBI to drop the course.

Following a recent letter of apology from AU President George H. Williams, five of the 11 clerks re-enrolled in the course. The university had invited the students to re-enroll about two weeks ago.

Exactly what was said about the FBI clerks reported the incident to their superiors and were then ordered to drop the class, an AU spokesman said.

The spokesman for the university added that AU had not been directly informed by the FBI that the clerks had been ordered to drop the course.

Rose said that he had no comment on the incident when contacted last night.

Perils of Extremism Linger in Quebec

By JAY WALZ

Special to The New York Times

MONTREAL, March 16—Although Paul Rose, the first of the Quebec separatist revolutionaries to be tried, has been convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment, the civil ordeal of Canada's largest city following the terrorist kidnappings and murder five months ago is far from over.

Fifty persons, including leading French Canadian activists of the outlawed Front for the Liberation of Quebec, face trial as a result of the October crisis. Of 497 persons arrested under emergency measures, all but 62 were released without charge. Of those booked, 22 are still held on charges ranging from seditious conspiracy to murder; others are free on bail. Thus, despite a surface calm, Montreal, and Quebec generally, lives in a state of emergency. In hot pursuit of terrorists or sympathizers, the police may still search and arrest without benefit of warrants. The Federal Public Order Act, which empowers them, expires on April 30.

Contributing to public restiveness is the silence of the provincial and federal authorities, from Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau down, on whether the emergency will be considered over in six weeks so that the unusual temporary measures may be allowed to expire. Mr. Trudeau is said to be awaiting the views of Quebec's Premier, Robert Bourassa, before deciding.

Opposition politicians, including leaders of the moderate separatist Parti Québécois, are trying to capitalize on the current silence. But their activities are somewhat dimmed by the fact that the leading revolutionaries, including Rose, are behind bars.

Public Still Nervous

The Quebec government has displayed sensitivity to the public nervousness that could soon develop into serious political pressure on Premier Bourassa, who already faces the task of instilling new confidence among people shaken by the faltering economy, with unemployment at 8 per cent, and of countering fears that continued violence would scare off much-needed investors.

This week Jérôme Choquette, Quebec's Justice Minister, announced that some 70 persons unjustly arrested under the emergency regulations would be compensated for damages. He acted after the provincial Ombudsman, Louis Marceau, reported complaints of damages to personal property during police raids, of unjust conditions of detention and of injuries. Some people said they lost their jobs and had not found new employment.

Mr. Choquette also instructed local police forces to get rid of files on persons arrested but not charged. In addition, he promised to write letters of rehabilitation to persons who feared that their reputations had been damaged.

Premier Bourassa and Montreal's Mayor, Jean Drapeau, had asked Prime Minister Trudeau for emergency measures to enable Quebec and the Montreal police to find the kidnappers of James R. Cross, the British trade commissioner abducted on Oct. 5, and of Pierre Laporte, Quebec Labor Minister, who was taken from his home on Oct. 10.

Mr. Laporte, who was later strangled by his abductors, and Mr. Cross were held as hostages until the provincial and federal governments agreed to release 13 "political prisoners" and meet other demands.

'Imprisonment in Perpetuity'

Last Saturday Rose, a burly former teacher who was captured with three alleged accomplices during the Christmas holidays, was found guilty of noncapital murder in the death of Mr. Laporte. The automatic sentence is "imprisonment in perpetuity."

The members of another cell of the Liberation Front who kidnapped Mr. Cross were given safe transport to Cuba when they released him Dec. 3.

Rose's alleged associates in the kidnapping of Mr. Laporte—his brother Jacques, Francis Simard and Bernard Lortie—await trial on charges of noncapital murder, kidnapping and advocacy of the use of force to effect a change of government.

Among other prominent revolutionaries being held are Pierre Vallières and Charles Gagnon, charged with membership in the Liberation Front. A charge of seditious conspiracy laid against them, and Michel Chartrand, a labor leader, and Robert Lemieux, a lawyer, were quashed.

Mr. Chartrand, who, with Mr. Lemieux, was released on bail, is on a cross-Canada speaking tour to denounce the treatment of French Canadians by the English Canadian establishment and the "American Fascist capitalists" who, he says, "run Canada."

'White Niggers of America'

While Mr. Vallières was confined to his cell, Montreal bookstores were offering a new English translation of a book he wrote four years ago while in prison in New York. Published by Monthly Review Press, under the title "White Niggers of America: The Precocious Autobiography of a Quebec Terrorist," it likens the "second-class" citizenship of French Canadians to that of blacks in the United States.

(CANADA)

MONTREAL--PAUL ROSE, AN ADMITTED QUEBEC LIBERATION FRONT (FLQ) TERRORIST WAS FOUND GUILTY TODAY OF THE MURDER OF LABOR MINISTER PIERRE LAPORTE AND SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT.

"VIVE QUEBEC LIBRE," ROSE SAID QUIETLY AS HE WAS LED FROM THE COURT.

"LONG LIVE THE PEOPLE OF QUEBEC. WE WILL WIN."
ROSE, 27, SHOWED NO EMOTION AS THE VERDICT WAS READ ALTHOUGH HIS FIERY OUTBURSTS HAD CAUSED HIM TO BE EXPELLED REPEATEDLY FROM THE COURTROOM DURING THE TURBULENT 45-DAY TRIAL.

ROSE WAS STILL WEARING THE TATTERED BROWN SWEATER, WITH HOLES IN THE ELBOWS AND GREN PANTS HE WORE WHEN HE AND TWO OTHERS CHARGED WITH THE KILLING -- INCLUDING HIS BROTHER JACQUES, 23-- WAS ROOTED OUT OF A CELLER DUGOUT BY POLICE IN A FARMHOUSE SOUTH OF MONTREAL IN DECEMBER.

LAWYER ROBERT LEMIEUX, ALSO A SEPARATIST AND HIMSELF FACING A CHARGE OF BEING A MEMBER OF THE OUTLAWED FLQ, SAID THE VERDICT AND SENTENCE WOULD BE APPEALED.

LEMIEUX CALLED THE TRIAL "A LAWYER'S DREAM -- THERE ARE SO MANY POINTS FOR APPEAL."

ROSE DECLARED IN MAKING HIS OWN SUMMATION FRIDAY THAT HE WOULD REMAIN A MEMBER OF THE FLQ -- A CRIME WHICH IS PUNISHABLE BY UP TO FIVE YEARS IN PRISON.

THE FINALE OF THE TRIAL TOOK ONLY MINUTES. THE JURORS, WHO GOT THE CASE FRIDAY AFTERNOON, APPARENTLY REACHED THEIR DECISION IN THEIR HOTEL OVERNIGHT, AS THEY HAD BEEN TOLD THEY COULD.

THEY FILED INTO COURT AT 10 A.M. WHEN THEY WERE DUE TO BEGIN DELIBERATING, AND TOLD THE JUDGE THEY HAD ALREADY REACHED A VERDICT -- "GUILTY AS CHARGED."

Canadian Gets Life in Terrorist Slaying

By CHARLES LAZARUS

Special to The New York Times

MONTREAL, March 13—Paul Rose, a 27-year-old itinerant who occasionally taught school, was sentenced to life imprisonment today for his part in the slaying of Pierre Laporte, Quebec's Minister of Labor and Immigration, last fall by the separatist Front for the Liberation of Quebec.

Sentencing came shortly after a verdict was handed down by the 12-man jury—women are excluded from jury duty in Quebec—five minutes after the court session was resumed at 10 A.M.

Appears to Be Calm

Rose seemed to take the sentence calmly. As he left the courtroom, he shouted:

"Long live a free Quebec! Long live the people of Quebec!"

His conviction, after a seven-week trial for which he was often excluded because of his disruptions, was on a charge of noncapital murder. Canada is in the fourth year of a five-year test period during which the death penalty is not ordered except in the killing of a policeman or prison guard.

Three of Rose's alleged accomplices are still to be tried on charges in Mr. Laporte's kidnapping last Oct. 10 and his strangulation on Oct. 16. No trial date has been set for the three, Rose's brother Jacques, Francis Simard and Bernard Lortie.

Mr. Laporte was abducted from the yard of his suburban home five days after the abduction of the British Trade Commissioner, James R. Cross, from his home in Montreal.

The men were kidnapped by different cells of the Front for the Liberation of Quebec and held as hostages for the terrorists' demands, including the release of 23 prisoners, payment of $500,000 in gold and publicity for the front's political manifesto. The Quebec Government agreed only to the last demand.

The kidnapping resulted in the invoking of the War Measures Act, a stringent emergency measure, and sending of federal troops to Quebec, following appeals for assistance from the province to the federal authorities.

Found at Farmhouse

Mr. Cross, 51, and his kidnappers were tracked to an apartment in northern Montreal on Dec. 13 and members of the front's cell who had held him were permitted to leave the country for Cuba after he was freed unharmed.

The four men sought in the slaying of Mr. Laporte, 49, were captured Dec. 28 in a deserted farmhouse south of Montreal.

Shortly after the passing of sentence today by Judge Ma-

Nichols — who had banished Rose from the courtroom for most of the trial because of his shouting of insults and slogans — a lawyer announced that an appeal would be filed Monday or Tuesday.

The lawyer, Robert Lemieux, who has often spoken for the front, termed the appeal a "lawyer's dream." at issue, he explained, is the fair trial of a defendant who, even though his own choice, fails to be fully or even adequately represented at his trial: Rose was barred so frequently from the courtroom he chose not to be represented by a lawyer.

Rose was permitted yesterday to give an 80-minute defense summation.

While speaking for his separatist cause, he said that "Your verdict means nothing, the Establishment has already found me guilty," and that he was proud to have taken part in the kidnapping of Mr. Laporte.

"I have never concealed the fact," he said, "that I took part in the kidnapping of Pierre Laporte. But that is all I said. I never spoke of anything else because it was a question of solidarity. It involves every member of the F.L.Q."

Rose's allusion was to a statement, allegedly made while he was being interrogated by the police, that Mr. Laporte had been strangled by one man while two others held him. Rose denied making any statement about actual details of the slaying.
